Advanced Troubleshooting and Vehicle Systems for the CDR Technician

This five day course is intended for law enforcement crash investigators, insurance adjustors and others who investigate and/or reconstruct crashes and need to be able to access and collect data from a vehicle's Airbag Control Module (ACM) in difficult and complex situations.

This course provides the CDR/EDR Tool user with an advanced skillset to conduct DLC imaging in more difficult situations where other users might not be able to. Attendees will learn to troubleshoot vehicle electrical systems as well as "connecting" to the vehicle when the DLC is damaged or not accessible. The experienced CDR/EDR Tool user will gain a better understanding of the various vehicle system components that "provide" information to the ACM, their locations, as well as how to "test" them.

Most, if not all, of the skills taught in the class will apply to other EDR tools such as Hyundai/Kia.

Topics include:

- ◇ Advanced data collection methods
- ◇ Electrical Terms & conventions
- ◇ Hands-on practical application on damaged vehicles
- ◇ Making specialized cables and adapters
- ◇ Obtaining, reading, and understanding diagnostic trouble codes
- ◇ Reading and understanding electrical schematics and other vehicle service information
- ◇ Relevant vehicle system sensors and components
- ◇ Repowering vehicles and ACMs in complex situations
- ◇ Using multi-meters and other test equipment
- ◇ Vehicle electrical system troubleshooting

Prerequisite: Completion of an in-person two-day CDR Technician course or equivalent subject to the instructor's approval. Online courses do NOT meet this requirement. Attendees are not required to own the Bosch CDR Tool, although it is strongly encouraged.
